

Approved Calculators

The following calculators have been approved for use in examinations requiring approved and labelled calculators. If you have a calculator on this list, you may present it to obtain an approved calculator label. If your calculator is not listed here, you should follow the procedure for seeking to have a calculator added to this list.

Note that even if a calculator is on this list, it may not be used in an examination requiring an approved and labelled calculator unless it has an approval label attached. The only models which may be used in an examination without a label are the Casio fx-82 series.
